P.11.3 SGPS Equity Climate Survey

P.11.3.1 Background

The SGPS is committed to equitable and non-discriminatory practices. Throughout the years, cases of harassment, discrimination, social exclusion, and other forms of inequity affecting Queen's student body have been noted in the press, as well as in Peer Academic Advisor and other reports. Seeing as such case evidence only provides us with information about incidents which are officially reported, the SGPS undertook to assess the experiential climate at Queen's from the perspective of SGPS Members via a membership-wide, online survey.

P.11.3.2 Purpose

As detailed in the Equity Climate Survey Report, the SGPS Equity Climate Survey was created to document incidents of discrimination. Data amassed through the survey helps to guide SGPS in its pursuit of non-discriminatory practices, to inform policy, and to advocate for attitudinal and institutional change. In repeating the exercise yearly, the SGPS will be able to record longitudinal data and track variants in how inequities transpire, our members' evolving needs, and levels of success in tackling barriers to equity.

P.11.3.3 Execution

One elected member of the SGPS Executive will be responsible for:

- a. Chairing the Equity Climate Survey Committee, which includes, but is not limited to the following members:
 - (1) The SGPS Equity and Diversity Commissioner or delegate
 - (2) At least one (1) member representative who is qualified in dealing with statistical analyses

 - (2) Implementing the survey once a year

 - (5) Comparing and contrasting the findings of that year's report with those of previous years.

P.11.4.2 Purpose

The SGPS intends to work proactively to remove barriers to the success and inclusion of its membership.

This policy aims to provide a frame of reference for the SGPS in order to comply with the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act, 2005 (AODA), and the Integrated Accessibility Standards Regulation, 2011 (IASR), but also to ensure an inclusive, equitable, and accessible experience for its membership.

This policy applies to the provision of customer service, information and communications, employment, the design of public spaces, accommodations, feedback, and works in concert with Queen’s University’s existing Accessibility Policy.

Furthermore, recognizing that the experience of each person with a disability is unique, this policy aims to provide support and accommodations based on individual needs, rather than providing single prescriptive solutions.

P.11.4.3 Guidelines

- a. Customer Service: All full-time employees of the SGPS, and members of the executive will complete Accessible Customer Service training within one month of assuming office, to ensure that all staff and executive are familiar with accessible customer service practices. - e. Accessibility Bursary: The funds levied by the SGPS through the “Accessibility Fund” student fee will be used to create an accessibility bursary to assist members with disabilities to finance assistive devices, additional support, or any other necessary accommodation. The Assistant Director of Finance and the VP Finance and Services will assess the bursary amount on an individual basis to ensure the privacy of individuals seeking support, based on referral from the Disability Services Office.

- f. Feedback: All feedback regarding accessibility to SGPS services can be submitted in person, in writing, by telephone, and by email (ask@sgps.ca), and will be forwarded to the Equity and Diversity Commissioner, and other necessary parties for consideration. P.11.4.4 Recommendations

- a. Form “Accessibility for Persons with Disabilities Advisory Committee” to identify and remove barriers on campus with a specific focus on graduate student life. P.14 Progress Reports

P.14.1 Preamble

The successful progress of a student through a graduate program requires the joint efforts of the student, supervisor, and department. In the event of conflict, students risk seeing their funding, research and potentially their careers, jeopardized. As such, it is in the best interest of all involved parties to have regular, documented communication, clearly outlined expectations, and the opportunity to identify and address in advance any foreseeable problems. Many graduate departments utilize various tools to track students' progress, such as Progress Reports. Progress reports, in addition to assuring appropriate times to degree completion, can facilitate clear and effective communication between students and supervisors.

P.14.2 Progress Report Stances

- a. The SGPS supports:
 - (1) Progress reports that promote ample and productive dialogue between students and supervisors and/or committees;
 - (2) Progress reports that establish clear expectations for both supervisor and student;
 - (3) Meetings held following the submission of a progress report to discuss its contents;
 - (4) Opportunities for students to redress possible shortcomings flagged in progress reports;

- (5) Clearly outlined appeal processes for students to contest negative evaluations;
- (6) The periodic revision of progress reports to ensure content validity;
- (7) The inclusion of the following elements within progress reports:
 - i. Clearly outlined processes and timelines for supervisors and/or committees to submit feedback to students on the content of progress reports
 - ii. Space for students and supervisors and/or committees to articulate expectations about research progress and plans for the future; this portion of the evaluation should include forecasting events or elucidating circumstances that may delay or prevent a student's timely progression through the program's traditional timeline
 - iii. Space for students to document relevant professional development activities (such as conferences, teaching, training workshops, research assistantships, publications, and committee work)
 - iv. Space for students to document any existing or former barriers to research or academic studies

 - vi. If applicable, an opportunity for students and supervisors and/or committees to indicate whether or not they can benefit from the formation of a supervisory committee

 - (3) Progress reports which are standardized across disciplines;
 - (4) The mandatory implementation of progress reports for all departments;

P.16 Anti-Harassment Policy and Reporting Procedures

P.16.1 Overview

P.16.1.1 Objectives

- a. The Society of Graduate and Professional Students (SGPS) is committed to providing an environment free of discrimination and harassment, where all individuals are treated with respect and dignity, can contribute fully and have equal opportunities.
- b. Under the Ontario Human Rights Code, every person has the right to be free from harassment and discrimination. Harassment and discrimination will not be tolerated, condoned or ignored at the SGPS. If a claim of harassment or discrimination is proven, disciplinary measures will be applied, up to and including termination of employment.
- c. The SGPS is committed to a comprehensive strategy to address harassment and discrimination, including:
 - (1) providing training and education to ensure members and staff are informed of their rights and responsibilities,
 - (2) regularly monitoring organizational systems for systemic barriers related to Code grounds,
 - (3) providing an effective and balanced complaints procedure, and
 - (4) promoting appropriate standards of conduct at all times.
- d. As such this policy and procedure document has been created as a guiding resource for the organization, in addition to the Queen's University Harassment/Discrimination Complaint Policy and Procedure which the SGPS follows per SGPS Policy P.11.1. This document is intended to provide an alternative and accessible means to report harassment internally and does not supersede the university policy.

P.16.1.2 Scope of Protection

- a. The right to freedom from discrimination and harassment extends to all SGPS members and employees, including members of the executive, full-time, part-time, temporary, probationary, casual and contract staff, as well as volunteers, work study students, and members of SGPS Council and committees.
- b. It is unacceptable for members of the SGPS to engage in harassment or discrimination when interacting with members of the Queen's community, visitors to the Queen's campus, or with other professional contacts, such as university staff or representatives of external companies.
- c. This policy applies at every level of the organization and to every aspect of the workplace environment and employment relationship, including recruitment, selection, promotion, transfers, training, salaries, benefits and termination. It also applies to rates of pay, overtime, hours of work, holidays, shift work, discipline and performance evaluations.
- d. This policy also applies to events occurring outside of the physical workplace, including business trips, society social events, social media, and other external event.

P.16.1.3 Prohibited Behavior

- a. Discrimination: any form of unequal treatment based on Code grounds, whether imposing extra burdens or denying benefits. It may be intentional or unintentional. It may involve direct actions that are discriminatory on their face, or it may involve rules, practices or procedures that appear neutral, but disadvantage certain groups of people. Discrimination may take obvious forms, or it may happen in very subtle ways. Even if there are many factors affecting a decision or action, if discrimination is one factor, this policy has been violated.

- b. Harassment: a course of comments or actions that are known, or ought reasonably to be known, to be unwelcome. It can involve words or actions that are known or should be known to be offensive, embarrassing, humiliating, demeaning or unwelcome, based on a ground of discrimination identified by this policy. Harassment can occur based on any of the grounds of discrimination, but may also occur in the absence of any grounds covered by the Human Rights Code. Harassment can include bullying, intimidation, or actions that make an individual feel unsafe or unwelcome in the organization, or directing others to take these actions.
- c. Examples of harassment include:
 - (1) Epithets, remarks, jokes or innuendos related to a person's race, gender identity, gender expression, sex, disability, sexual orientation, creed, age, or any other ground
 - (2) Posting or circulating offensive pictures, graffiti or materials, whether in print form or via e-mail or other electronic means
 - (3) Singling out a person for humiliating or demeaning "teasing" or jokes because they are a member of a Code-protected group
 - (4) Comments ridiculing a person because of characteristics that are related to a ground of discrimination. For example, this could include comments about a person's dress, speech or other practices that may be related to their sex, race, gender identity or creed.
- d. Sexual and gender-based harassment:
 - (1) Sexual harassment is a form of harassment that can include:
 - i. Comments about a person's physical characteristics or mannerisms related to their gender identity,
 - ii. Paternalistic speech based on gender which a person feels undermines his or her self respect or position of responsibility,
 - iii. Unwelcome physical contact,
 - iv. Suggestive or offensive remarks or innuendoes about members of a specific gender,
 - v. Propositions of physical intimacy,
 - vi. Gender-related verbal abuse, threats or taunting,
 - vii. Leering or inappropriate staring,
 - viii. Bragging about sexual prowess or questions or discussions about sexual activities,
 - ix. Offensive jokes or comments of a sexual nature about an employee or client,
 - x. Rough and vulgar humour or language related to gender,
 - xi. Display of sexually offensive pictures, graffiti or other materials including through electronic means, or
 - xii. Demands for dates or sexual favours.
- e. Sexual Solicitation:
 - (1) This policy prohibits sexual solicitations or advances by any person who is in a position to grant or deny a benefit to the recipient of the solicitation or advance. This includes managers and supervisors, as well as co-workers where one person is in a position to grant or deny a benefit to the other. Reprisals for rejecting such advances or solicitations are also prohibited.
- f. Poisoned environment:

- (1) A poisoned environment is created by comments or conduct (including comments or conduct that are condoned or allowed to continue when brought to the attention of management) that create a discriminatory work environment. The comments or conduct need not be directed at a specific person, and may be from any person, regardless of position or status. A single comment or action, if sufficiently serious, may create a poisoned environment. This can include spreading rumours or fostering a negative perception of someone indirectly by speaking to other individuals.

P.16.1.4 Responsibility to Prevent Harassment

- a. All members of the SGPS are expected to uphold and abide by this policy, by refraining from any form of harassment or discrimination, and by cooperating fully in any investigation of harassment or discrimination.
- b. Members in a position of leadership where they have SGPS members or staff reporting to them have the additional responsibility to act immediately on observations or allegations of harassment or discrimination. Leaders in the organization are responsible for creating and maintaining a harassment- and discrimination-free organization, and should attempt to address potential problems before they become serious.

P.16.2 Reporting Procedure

P.16.2.1 Who can use this procedure?

- a. Individuals may use this reporting procedure if they are experiencing harassment from the members of the executive, full-time, part-time, temporary, probationary, casual and contract staff, as well as volunteers, work study students, and members of SGPS Council and committees.
- b. The individual experiencing the harassment can be external to the SGPS, a member at large, or belong to one of the listed categories in order to use this procedure.
- c. This policy may be used to address harassment made by individuals external to the SGPS but only in limited circumstances as the organization does not have jurisdiction over university staff, unaffiliated students, or members of the community at large. For example, if an individual that is not a member of the SGPS was engaging in harassing behavior inside an SGPS office or space, the organization could ban them from entering the space in the future. The same applies to individuals who were previously SGPS members but are no longer affiliated.

P.16.2.2 Options for Addressing Harassment and Rights of Parties

- a. The procedure for reporting harassment in this document is just one means of addressing these issues. It is intended to provide a venue and resolution process for members and staff of the SGPS who have experienced harassment, or for community members who have experienced harassment or discrimination by an SGPS member or staffer. This procedure will act as a guide for the SGPS to address harassment complaints and problems, but is intended to offer flexibility for unique circumstances and emergencies.
- b. Experiencing harassment of any kind can be challenging. If an individual reports a case of harassment, their comfort and safety will be made a priority. If at any point they feel unsafe or uncomfortable with the process, they should speak to the person managing their complaint in order to address their concerns. The process should always be flexible and ready to accommodate a complainant where needed and reasonable. The SGPS supports a harassment-free environment and will address every complaint seriously and in good faith.

- c. Harassment may be a criminal offence, if the harassment involves attempted or actual physical assault, including sexual assault, or threats of an assault. Stalking is a crime called “criminal harassment.” Where harassment includes any of these things, members are encouraged to contact the local police service.
- d. Every person has a right to claim and enforce their right to a workplace free of harassment and discrimination. No person shall be negatively treated for bringing forward a complaint, providing information related to a complaint, or helping to resolve a complaint. It is a violation of SGPS policy to discipline or punish a person because they have brought forward a complaint, provided information related to a complaint, or otherwise been involved in the complaint resolution process. Reprisal may be the subject of a complaint under this procedure, and persons engaging in reprisal are subject to disciplinary measures, up to and including termination of employment.
- e. Individuals who feel that they are experiencing harassment or discrimination of any kind are encouraged to take notes about the incident. Notes should attempt to record the location, date, time, circumstances, and any witnesses to the incident. While these notes are not required to file a formal complaint, they can be very useful to the party that investigates the claim. Individuals who have been notified of a complaint against them are also advised to create and keep written notes about the events at issue, and to maintain any relevant written documentation. For all parties this should include:
 - (1) What happened – a description of the events or situation
 - (2) When it happened – dates and times of the events or incidents
 - (3) Where it happened
 - (4) Who saw it happen – the name of any witnesses, if applicable
- f. If a person does not explicitly object to harassing behaviour, or appears to be permitting it, this does not mean that the behaviour is okay. The behaviour could still be considered harassment under the Code, and this individual can and should still seek out official assistance.

P.16.2.3 Confidentiality and Privacy

- a. Managers, investigators, mediators and persons receiving complaints will, to the extent possible, protect the confidentiality and privacy of persons involved in a complaint, subject to the requirements of a fair investigation and resolution process.
- b. All documents related to a complaint, including the written complaint, witness statements, investigation notes and reports, and documents related to the complaint, will be securely maintained by the relevant manager separate from personnel files, on a secure SGPS server.

P.17.2.4 How to Report Harassment

- a. Complainants are encouraged to explain to the person who is harassing or discriminating against them that the conduct is unwelcome, but are not obliged to do so. If addressing the person responsible could lead to an escalation of the harassment or discrimination, or to safety risks, complainants are not expected to directly interact with that person. If a complainant feels they can safely make it known to the person responsible that the behaviour is unwelcome, this may resolve the matter, or may help later if a complaint is filed. However, a complainant should never feel obliged to address their harasser against their better judgment.
- b. If the situation cannot be resolved by speaking to the person responsible, a complaint may be made by speaking to the current SGPS Vice President Professional. If the complainant feels uncomfortable with speaking to this individual because they are the harasser, or if they feel they can not be an impartial intervener, then they may alternatively seek out the SGPS President, SGPS Council Speaker, or an immediate supervisor where possible. This party should be neutral to both the complainant and individual allegedly causing the harassment, and will subsequently manage the reported case.

- c. If the complainant is a Peer Academic Advisor, it is recommended they approach the Program Administrator or the SGPS Vice President Graduate if possible, due to the confidential nature of their program. If either of these parties cannot be approached because of the nature of the harassment, the Peer Academic Advisor can approach the SGPS President, Director, or another suitable SGPS official.
 - (1) Where possible, the complaint should be made in writing, including details of:
 - (2) What happened – a description of the events or situation
 - (3) When it happened – dates and times of the events or incidents
 - (4) Where it happened
 - (5) Who saw it happen – the names of any witnesses, if any.
- d. The person receiving the complaint will notify the person(s) complained against (the respondent(s)) of the complaint and provide the respondent(s) with a copy of the written complaint.
- e. If necessary, the complainant or the respondent will be placed on a paid leave of absence, moved to a different location within the organization, or provided with alternative reporting relationships. The decision will be made on a case-by-case basis, and will reflect the principle that the complainant will not be penalized for making the complaint.

P.16.2.5 Investigating a Report of Harassment

- a. Throughout this process complainants and respondents are entitled to seek representation of their choice, including legal counsel, at their own expense.
- b. Following a report of harassment, the SGPS will take steps to investigate the circumstances of a complaint. The person selected to perform the investigation should be independent and objective, and should not be the same person managing the case. Wherever possible, the investigator should not be in a position of direct authority over any of the people involved in a complaint, but should report to someone with the authority to make and enforce decisions regarding the complaint. If necessary the investigator may be an individual external to the SGPS who will report their findings to the manager overseeing the case.
- c. Persons conducting investigations must be knowledgeable about:
 - (1) Human rights issues and principles in general
 - (2) The requirements of the Code
 - (3) The organization's anti-harassment/anti-discrimination policy and complaints procedure
 - (4) Methods for conducting investigations.
- d. The agreed-upon investigator is responsible for ensuring a thorough, fair and impartial investigation of the allegations in the complaint. The investigator will interview the complainant, the respondent(s), and relevant witnesses suggested by the complainant or respondent(s), as well as gather documents relevant to the matters in the complaint.
- e. All staff of the organization are required to cooperate with the investigator.
- f. The investigator will, wherever possible, complete the investigation within 30 days of receiving the assignment.

- g. At the conclusion of the investigation, the investigator will prepare a written report summarizing the allegations and the investigation results, and will forward the report to the manager overseeing the case.

P.16.2.6 Alternative Dispute Resolution

- a. Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) is the use of a mediator to create an open dialogue between the two parties. A mediator is a neutral third party who acts as a facilitator to help the parties reach a negotiated settlement that both parties agree to.
- b. Where appropriate, the person receiving the complaint will offer the parties an opportunity to mediate the complaint. No person will be required to undertake mediation. Mediation can be conducted by a neutral SGPS member with official mediation training, or an expert third-party mediator. Mediation may take place at any stage during the complaint process.

P.16.2.7 Potential Outcomes

- a. Based on the findings in the investigator's report, the manager overseeing the case will decide whether the policy has been violated.
- b. If the policy has been violated, the Human Resources Manager will determine the appropriate consequences for the person(s) who violated the policy. These may include:
 - (1) An apology
 - (2) Counselling
 - (3) Education and remedial training
 - (4) A no-contact order
 - (5) Verbal or written reprimand
 - (6) Suspension with pay
 - (7) Suspension without pay
 - (8) Transfer of office or responsibilities
 - (9) Termination of employment
- c. In determining the appropriate consequences, the Human Resources Manager will take into account the nature of the violation, its severity, and whether the individual has previously violated the policy.
- d. Where a violation of the policy is found, the appropriate manager will also take any steps necessary to repair the effects of the discrimination or harassment on the complainant, and to prevent any further recurrences of harassment or discrimination within the organization.
- e. Either the Vice President Professional or the manager who handled the case will be responsible for monitoring the outcome of the complaint. This individual will forward the decision of the investigation and the final consequences to Campus Security to protect the complainant and ensure that specific terms like a no-contact agreement will be enforced.
- f. If the report of harassment has been found to have merit, but the offending party refuses to accept the decision of the manager or comply with the consequences, then the manager may choose to pass the claim and their findings to another university body to be enforced. The manager may choose to contact Campus Security, the Registrar's Office, or the Office of the Ombudsperson in order to enforce fines, conditions, or other consequences.

P.16.2.8 False or Malicious Reports

- a. If a complaint is determined to be unfounded there will not be an automatic penalty against the complainant. However, where there is objective evidence to show that the complaint was maliciously filed, with deliberate intent to injure or mislead, there may be consequences. Only where the evidence of malice in bringing a complaint is compelling and undeniable should disciplinary measures of any sort apply to complainants.

P.16.2.9 Communication of Decision

- a. The complainant and the respondent(s) will each be provided with a copy of the investigator's report, and with the case manager's decision regarding outcomes.
- b. Where a complainant or respondent is dissatisfied with the outcome of the complaint, he or she will be reminded of alternative university bodies that can handle their issue, and about his or her rights under the Ontario Human Rights Code.

P.16.2.10 Alternative Reporting Process and Appeal

- a. If the SGPS Executive and Council cannot provide an adequate means to address the harassment, or if a complainant or respondent feels that their issue has been mishandled, they may seek out an alternative body to investigate their claim.
- b. Individuals can contact the following parties:
 - (1) Queen's Human Rights Office
 - (2) Office of the Ombudsperson
 - (3) Queen's Campus Security

- b. Reservations may only be made for SPGS space by groups of 3 or more members, booked a maximum of one month in advance.

- d. Reservations may be made on a recurrent basis only by SGPS ratified clubs.
- e. Recurring reservations may only be booked from September 15th through April 30th to ensure that new clubs have sufficient time to organize meetings.
- f. Reservations by clubs may still be made outside of this period, however they may only be booked up to one month in advance.

P.17.5 Use of Space

- a. The use of any SGPS space must be in compliance with SLC policies, the Queen's Student Code of Conduct, and may not be used to promote hate, discrimination, violence, or any other activity which is judged, in the sole opinion of the Equity and Diversity Commissioner, to be misaligned with SGPS equity principles.
- b. Violation of the Use of Space clause may result in a ban of up to one year on either the student(s) or group(s) from using any SGPS-designated space. Appeals may be made to SGPS Council.
- c. Catering, or the provision of any large quantity of food or drink is subject to SLC policy, and users are advised that catering and/or waste removal charges may be assessed by the SLC.
- d. Rooms must be kept tidy and returned to the same level of cleanliness found prior to the group taking occupancy of the space.
- e. The SGPS reserves the right to charge student(s) or group(s) for any clean up or repair fees due to damage or negligence associated with their use of the space. Any clean up or repair fees assessed may only be disputed by means of an appeal to SGPS Council.

P.17.6 Long Term Occupancy

- a. SGPS members and affiliated clubs, groups, or organizations may also request long-term use of space for more permanent activities. Such applications will be adjudicated by the SGPS Executive, taking into consideration the utility of the club, group, or organization's activities to graduate and professional students, the overall space needs of the SGPS membership, and in compliance with the other elements of this policy.

- b. The SGPS Executive can grant use of the space for one semester or one year, depending on the applicant's desires and the Executive's assessment of the criteria noted above. Clubs, groups, or organizations that are granted use of such spaces can apply for extensions of their use of the space by submitting a new written request no less than one month before the expiry of their existing agreement.
